The annual banquet of the Bar Association of Hawaii at the Alexander Young Hotel on Friday evening was one of the most elaborate functions given at the hostelry. The decorations were superb, great quantities of flowers being used to carry out the design. The tables were arranged to appear in the form of the Scales of Justice. The end tables were circular and from the spaces between the guests' places ropes of red carnations and malle were drawn upward to the chandelier overhead. Across the intervening space between the end tables huge American and Hawaiian flags were drawn, the whole effect showing the scales to perfection. Each of the circular tables had for centerpieces, huge cut glass bowls of white daisies. The intervening table was decorated with a huge silver epergne filled with clusters of red carnations. The napery was strewn over with carnation blossoms and greenery. Leis of white and red carnations were dropped about the necks of the guests. Under the strong brilliancy of the electric light the banquet table presented a beautiful effect. The decorations were the handiwork of Mrs. E. B. McManahan and Mr. Harry Davidson, and the place cards were done by Miss Justine McManahan. Hon. A. G. M. Robertson, president of the Association, was toastmaster. Col.
